Up to last night neither side had suffered defeat in the tournament, and while Yale's jest forwards had made some good scores, Harvard's heavy line was expected to check the rushes of the Yale men, and Harvard was in the rosnes of the late men, and harvata was favorite in the betting at the odds of 8 to 5.

Minor Leagues Lost a Rare Chance to Better Themselves.

The baseball magnates began to leave town esterday, well satisfied with the result of ek's work, barring, of course, the fizzle of the minor leagues' demands for alleged justice. President Johnson of the American League, in reviewing the situation

"The minor leagues have nobody to blame but themselves. They were represented here by men who were looking out for their own rsonal interests and who muddled things in a most unfortunate way. I have the opinion of many persons interested in minor league clubs that the proposition made b yesterday was perfectly fair. National League had approved of it beforehand, the minor leagues stood alone in their opposition to it. It would have been good policy on their part to have accepted it; but it been fair to the minors at all times, and will be fair in the future but I cannot say that the minors have been fair to us. As the case stands now, the minor leagues are not in harnony with one another and have not bettered themselves a particle, in spite of the fact that they had an extraordinary chance to do so

"Baseball should enjoy a greater boom this year than ever before. The American League race, I believe, will be just as interesting as last year, if not more so, as all of the teams have been strengthened. Public sentiment in this city, as far as the Americans are concerned, has changed wonderfully. and I think Clark Griffith and his men will enjoy the most liberal patronage in the future. They have had an uphill fight for popularity but that has been nearly won now. It will be time soon to begin the campaign on the diamond and then baseball politics can take

The attempt to oust P. T. Powers from the trol of the Eastern League by several self-appointed dictators may result in th wrecking of that organization. Powers has been the mainstay of the Eastern League wrecking of that organization. Powers has been the mainstay of the Eastern League for years. He has patched up the circuit, when tottering, time and again, putting his own money into places where it would do the most good, without a return. He has been eminently fair and square in all his dealings with other baseball men and enjoys the reputation of being a clean sportsman. Just why such a scheme should be hatched is beyond the comprehension of baseball men who have known Powers for many years.

When the minor league men, by the way, left town yesterday, they were wrangling among themselves. The individual who attempted to place their demands before the two higleagues came in for a general scoring. It was declared that he had mismanaged the whole proceedings and was responsible for the fizzle. Incidentally the minor leagues had not recovered from the unexpected throw-down they received from the National League, which they had been led to believe, would remain loyal to their cause to the end. But looking backward the minor leagues should not have lost sight of the fact that the National League was never the friend of the minors and that no faith should have been placed in protestations of support.

The American League umpires, Sheridan, Connolly, O'Loughlin and Kelly, held a session at the Hotel Bresiin yesterday at which President Johnson instructed them to exercise enusual care in enforcing the balk rule this year.

enusual care in enforcing the balk rule this year.

The umpires were also informed that it would be their duty to see that the pitcher's box is perfectly level with the rest of the diamond. This will do away with the practice of raising the box so that the pitcher has an immense advantage over the batsman. Furthermore, the "arbitrators," as the umpires call themselves, were ordered to enforce the rules against kicking and disorder with even greater strictness than before, and they were assured that they would receive the support of the president of the league to the limit.

The arrangement of the league to the limit.

The arrangement of the world's series is a source of satisfaction to the baseball public all over the country. In this city the fans will root hard for both local teams to win their respective pennants, so that they can come together next fall in a series of games that will create more excitement in the baseball world than any that have been piayed in the history of the game.

DEATH OF JOCKEY WENRICK. Had Signed to Ride for James R. Keene This Season.

Eddie Wenrick, who was killed at the Hot Springs track on Friday, was one of the mospromising of the newly developed lightweight jockeys. He learned the craft in the late W. C. INDOOR TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP. Grant Beats Allen in Close Match-Dewhurst in Form.

Good progress was made yesterday in the indoor national lawn tennis tourney held on the courts of the Seventh Regiment armory. Sixth-sixth street and Park avenue. There were few defaults, but the half holiday enabled the committee to start on time, with the result that but ten men are left in the running. B. S. Prentice, the Harvard cap-tain; W. B. Cragin, E. B. Dewhurst, the former intercollegiate champion; Calboun Cragin, M. S. Clark and Shepard Homans are well along in the race, with Wylle Grant, the title holder, still undefeated, though a round behind.

Friday's unfinished match between Grant and Harry F. Allen, the Southern champion, was the feature of the early afternoon, the former displaying far better form than on the day previous. Allen's win of the opening set Friday, 11-0, put him in the lead. but his opponent quickly evened matters by taking the second set, 6-2. By hard smashing at the net, combined with good side line placing, Grant tallied the points in quick succession, Allen playing on the defensive throughout. On the deciding set the games were more even, but Grant's brilliant drives won after a close struggle. At one time the score stood 3-2 and 40-love At one time the score stood 3—2 and 40—love for Allen, but clever cross-court drives gave Grant the three succeeding points, bringing the game to deuce. Aggressive smashing won the game for Grant, and from this point on he kept the lead, running out the set 7—5. Grant plays R. M. Beekley to-morrow, the winner to face B. S. Prentice for a place in the semi-finals.

In the other half of the draw E. B. Denhurst continued his winning gait, defeating Theodore R. Pell in straight sets. Pell is one of the strong players of the New York T. C., but was no match for the Australian. The latter has improved steadily since his advent on American courts and his victory yesterday makes him a formidable candidate for the honors.

advent on American courts and his victory yesterday makes him a formidable candidate for the honors.

M. S. Clark of the Seventh Regiment surprised every one by winning in straight sets from the regimental champion, C. C. Kelley. Clark plays a careful game and recent practice has materially improved his strokes. By persistent lobbing and clever side line shots he kept his opponent on the defensive Kelley losing Ipoints on careless work out of bounds. The default of Bryan, one of the strong players in the tourney, advanced Clark another round, and he is now matched with Shepard Homans for a place in the semi-finals. The latter player almost met his match yesterday in Harry Gowan of the Atlantic City T. C., three close sets being required to decide the points. Each man took a set at s-6, but the better staying qualities of the former Princeton full back won the third set, 6-4.

The oterh winners were W. B. Cragin, R. H. Palmer and Calhoun Cragin.

A start was made in the doubles and some four contests were finished when darkness stopped play. Wylle Grant, who with Robert Le Roy won the event a year ago, is paired with Dewhurst. to the Harvard pair, E. W. Leonard and B. S. Prentice, and a close match resulted. The Harvard men gave a good exhibition of team play, but the more brilliant work of their opponents carried the day. For the winners, Dewhurst showed the better form, while Grant's smashing at net proved a frequent point gainer. Dewhurst was strong on cross court drives and his placing was most timely. At the start the Harvard pair played poorly, but came on with a rush on the second set.

NO LICENSE FOR EMPIRE CITY.

STATE RACING COMMISSION DE-NIES APPLICATION.

Yonkers Track Pronounced Unsuitable for the Sport for Various Reasons
-Jockey Club's Allotment of Dates Approved-Legal Proceedings Likely.

The State Racing Commission has refused to grant a license to the Empire City Frotting Club for a meeting at the Yonkers track this year. Yesterday the commission sent the appended report to James Butler, owner of the Empire City plant:

Whereas under the statute (Chapter 570 of the Laws of 1896) every license granted by this com-mission shall contain a condition that all running races and race meetings conducted thereunder shall be subject to the reasonable rules and regulations from time to time prescribed by the Jockey

Whereas it has been the invariable practice of the Jockey Club, for several years last past, to grant its license or sanction for any running race meetings under its rules only when it also assigned specific dates for such meeting; and Whereas under the rules of racing adopted by the Jockey Club, all horses, trainers and jockeys competing at an unrecognized meeting are disqualified for races held on the Jockey Club tracks; and upon full consideration of all the papers, rules and the annual reports made to the Legislature

Resolved, (1) That in the opinion of the commission, neither the accommodations and equip-ment on the property specified in the application, nor the means of transportation to and from the grounds are satisfactory or sufficient; and that the objections thereto which were set out in the report of the commission to the Legislature for the year 1900 still hold good, viz.: report of the commission to the Legislature for the year 1900 still hold good, viz.:

Dur ing the past season your commission issued a license to the Empire City Jockey Club for a race meeting for tweive days. This association had its grounds near Yonkers. In Westchester county, it was a new organization, although the grounds which it leased for the purposes of the meeting had been the scene of some trotting meetings. The trotting meetings had not been a success financially, but it was deemed advisable by your commission that a license should be issued for a running race meeting. It was experimental, and the results were not such as, in the judgment of the commission, would warrant the issuing of a license for 1901.

The accommodations at the course are insufficient, and the grandstand facing the sun in the afternoon makes it uncomfortable for the patrons. The transportation facilities are poor, and were a hardship on the public compelled to travel there in the autumn of last year. These would have to be remedied.

vided in Section 8 of the statute above referred to.

3. That the allotinent of dates for the year 1905, which has been made by the Jeckey Club, as above set out; is a reasonable regulation of racing, and is approved by the commission it would be detrimental to the best interests of racing to have another running race meeting held near the city of New York on dates conflicting with the dates already assigned by the Jockey Club to the other neighboring tracks, or conflicting with the Saratoga meeting—the lastice having always been classed by the commission in the metropolitian circuit; nor should those existing tracks be now required to further curtail the number of days racing heretofore allowed to each.

5. That in the judgment of the commission a proper case for the issuance of a license for the year 1905, as asked for by the Empire City Trotting Tracks have a subject to the conduct a running race meeting on its grounds, has not been shown; that the purpose of the racing law and the public interests will not be promoted thereby; and, in the exercise of the discretion which the commission deems to be vested in it in such cases, the application is denied.

The commission is composed of August Belmont, John Sanford and E. D. Moran. in it in such cases, the application is dealed.

The commission is composed of August Belmont, John Sanford and E. D. Morgan. Mr. Morgan is in Europe and Messrs. Belmont and Sanford, after making public the above report, declined to discuss the matter further except to say that the report explained itself sufficiently without additional comment. Messrs. Belmont and Sanford met at Albany on Friday and heard the application of the Empire City track set forth by Mr. Briter's attorney. Mr. Butler has already placed himself on record as being ready to carry the matter into the courts in case a license was refused, so that in view of the decision of the commission legal complications are expected.

FENCERS CLUB WINS.

Its Team Gets the Intercity Trophy in Good Style. A trio from the Fencers' Club, in that club's Salle d'Armes, won outright last night the intercity team cup that has been in play since

The winners won gold medals also as personal souvenirs. "The trophy has brought out good sport and good fellowship," said a committee-man, and we will offer another cup for a renewal of the series." The teams were: New York A. C.—Dr. Graeme Hammond, C. G. bthner and C. E. Goodhue. Boston A. A.—J. P. Parker, S. Cabot and W. L. wman. New York Turn Verein—John Allaire, P. Ben-nberg and George Reinhert. Fencers' Club—Fitzhugh Townsend, W. Scott Compor and Charles Latham.

renberg and George Keinner.

Fencers' Club-Fitzhugh Townsend, W. Scott O'Connor and Charles Latham.

The cumbersome percentage system tried last year in this contest has passed away with no mourners, and the fencing last night was on the old plan, a winner for each bout. The judges were Dr. M. J. Echeverria and Dr. J. H. Woodward.

In the first inning the Boston A. A. beat the New York A. A. by 5 to 3. Dr. Hammond, who beat Parker, Cabot and Bowman was the only New Yorker to win out. In the second inning the Fencers' Club beat the Turn Varein 5 to 1. This left the final bout between the Boston A. A. and the Fencers' Club, which was a survival of old rivals, as two years ago the two teams tied for the cup, which the Fencers won in 1902 and 1904.

First in the final round were Parker, the left-handed fencer, for Boston, and Townsend for the home club. It was a lively bout, with the foils glinting like firebugs under the electric light, and, despite the handicap of being against a sword to the left. Townsend won. O'Connor, a former foils champion and present Fox Hills goifer, was next out for the home club and he won from the Bostonian, Cabot. Tatham, Fencers' Club, and Bowman, Boston, were the next pair, the home foilsman winning. It was a "round robin" series, but with the score three to nothing for the Fencers Club, it looked now that it would not be necessary to hold all of the duels.

Townsend scored quickly over Cabot, but the duels.

Townsend scored quickly over Cabot, but Bowman beat O'Connor. Tatham then beat Parker, settling the final, 5 bouts to 1. Dr. Hammond's fencing was the strongest of the evening, and, although the team included Bothner, the foil champion, he was the only member to make a count for the New York A. C.
